

Norman Hudson

DOWLING

1 Oct 1919 ~ 9 Jan 2003

Norman died peacefully in the early hours of Thursday morning, 9 January after a short battle with cancer.

His greatest passions throughout life were music, art, theatre and antiques and I know that he would be delighted with the Tribute the Swan Hill Theatre Group has honoured him with tonight.

Norm left specific instructions for his body to be donated to the Department of Anatomy, Melbourne University, to assist research in whatever capacity he could.

This note is a small but special thankyou from me to acknowledge the sentiments you have expressed.
