Dear Shane,

I have been meaning to write to you for sometimes, but like many people I have a ROUNDTUIT, and until this moment I simply haven't manage to get around to it.

It's not for mere mortals, like myself to try and understand the workings of the political wing of the C.P., but what mere mortals like me are able to do is thank a former Chief Minister for the contribution he has made to the government of the Northern Territory and its development.
And that's what this note is about - a simple and sincere Thank you!!

Again without trying to understand the workings of the political wing of the C.P., I thought it entirely inappropriate that they should have gone to the media about what they had done. They could, and should have kept it in house.

Anyway, thank Shane. Both Helen and I wish you + Josephine all the best, and if you don't mind a lapsed Catholic, as you are sometimes want to refer to us brethren, wishing you God's blessing, that is what Helen + I wish you and your family,

With sincere good wishes,

Bullman

Dear Paul and Helen

Thank you for your letter of March 4. I apologise for not responding earlier but I have been endeavouring to deal with an avalanche of mail that has been written to me in very personal terms which I believe deserves an equally personal response.

I am most appreciative of your letter and the sentiments that you have set out. One has their highs and lows in the political arena and whilst I was fairly unhappy about the shabby way in which I was treated as I made my departure, I am not looking back over my shoulder. I wish Denis Burke and his new team all the very best for the future.

I would particularly like to thank you both for your friendship, support and encouragement over the years, dating from when Josephine and I first came to Alice Springs. The warmth of your friendship will never be forgotten.

I was disappointed to see you leave the Territory but I understood your decision.

In the event that I can ever be of any assistance to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

My contact details are as follows:
